CONGOLEUM ART RUGS

Combine Beauty, Sanitation, Low Cost.

Hartley's

For Every Room in the House
CLEAR-FLUX RUGS.

Fall Floor Coverings, Curtains and Draperies

THE Hartley Third Floor is a store of specialized service for the home. Here you meet with men versed in the art of interior decoration. Their sole aim is to help you choose floor coverings and hangings for your home, advising you on color ideas and decorative motifs. Fall stocks are now assembled. We have spared neither time nor expense to make them comprehensive. If you are interested in making your home more beautiful and more cozy, early inspection is advisable.

FLOOR COVERINGS

The floor covering is the background for the home. It is the setting that magnifies the beauty of furniture. Its rich colorings, its soft texture bids you welcome.

A visit to our floor covering department is an education. The quality and variety of the stock makes instant impression. Surely from so large a collection, one can find the particular design and color scheme one is looking for.

Here, for example, are the Royal Wilton Rugs. Let us sit in one of the easy chairs as the salesmen turn them over. How diversified are the designs. This one is typically Oriental. None but the Chinese could originate a design such as this. And now an all-over effect—a small figure repeated with regularity over the entire rug. How the colors bewilder one—Blues, browns, brilliant cardinals, light pastel shades, old gold, and rose—every shade of the rainbow.

That rug is a Whittall. This is a Hardwick and Magee. The next a Sloane. Each rug is the product of a maker who has earned a reputation for the serviceability of his rugs.

What is true about the Royal Wiltons is likewise so about the Axminsters, and Brussels and Velvets.

Over here are the smaller size rugs—for small rooms, vestibules, offices, and to "scatter about" the home.

As For The Prices

Taking the stocks all in all, prices are about on the same level as a year ago. In some cases they are even lower. To hold prices down in the face of conditions is an achievement. It speaks volumes for the alertness of our representatives and the merchandising methods of Hartley's.

Some Interesting History About Sewing Machines

IT HAS been the custom in the past to hide the sewing machine in some dark and out-of-the-way place in the house, seeing it only when it is in actual use. With the new Cabinet Style Twentieth Century "FREE", any housewife can use the sewing machine as a piece of furniture in any room deceiving her neighbor into thinking it is anything but a sewing machine. It will look more nearly like a music cabinet than a sewing machine. The cut herewith shows the style mentioned.

THIS QUALITY IS ONLY FOUND IN THE NEW "FREE"

This machine is not only ahead in outward appearance over all other machines, but is so far ahead in giving actual service from its inward self. The Toggle-Link take-up, preventing your thread from pulling out of the eye of the needle when you start the machine is the great feature. Automatic tension release wind your bobbin through the eye of the needle and you never unthread the machine. Remember, you're only reading an Ad now, but we place our whole establishment behind it to the very letter.

Come in today and let us show you the new model.

American Legion Dues Called for

A call has been issued by Earl H. Smith, post commander of Heinzelman Post, that all persons who have been received as members of Heinzelman Post and who have not yet paid their dues of one dollar per year, send in the dollar as soon as possible.

Mr. Smith is in receipt of a communication from the national headquarters asking that all state and national dues be made at once or else the post will not be entitled to representation at the state and national convention. Mr. Smith desires to turn in the state and national dues as soon as possible. These dues are included in the dollar which is required by the local post.

The money can be sent to either Earl Smith, Ralph Hamilton, or soldier secretary Jay Straight, all of Fairmont.

Ivan Macpherson, chief secretary for Ireland, was once a sporting editor.
